It is not expected that any more English black currants wil be offered this summer. The one merehant who handled huckleberries last week had so much trouble in disposing of them that he declares that there will be none of these.

The vegetable line is still fairly well represented along the row, but like all other produce the quantities offered were not large. Fresh cauliflower from Farmington was offered at two pounds for 25c. Cabbage still continues to bring 5c a pound. Beans, both the broad and the string varieties, are now on the market. The broad beans are by far the cheaper, selling at three pounds for 10c, while the string beans sell at the rate of one pounds for 15c, or possibly two pounds for 25c. 2,000 288 28

BLACK RUST IN THE WHEAT RAISES PRICE

Market Is Strong All Day on Unfavorable Crop and Weather Reports.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The report of the appearance of black rust in the wheat fields of North Dakota caused a strong wheat market here today. The September delivery closed at a net gain of lic. Corn was up 1 2c. oats were in higher, provisions were in the total of the chief source of strength to the market, but there were also other factors, namely, the Liverpool market, which had been weak at the opening of the local exchange, became strong and closed firm. Reports of rain in the outhwest, which will delay harvesting operations, and the talk of small yields of winter wheat. Trading during the last half of the session was active. The market opened quite weak, but closed strong and with pricas near the high point of the day. September opened 1 c 10 2c. The close was 2210 922c.

The market for corn closed strong and MADE ITS APPEARANCE Market row still presents a pleasing appearance to the buyer, but the big sales of Saturday and the lack of supplies Monday made its appearance much different from the excellent showing made on Saturday. Tomatoes seem to be the commodity most dealt in, nearly all of the wholesale houses receiving large shipments. Most of these shipments have been unripe and before they were sent to the retailers it was necessary to sort them. The tomatoes bring 15c a pound at retail booths.

Fruits, though present, were not offered in such large quantities. In the fruit line the only new visitor was the wild goose plum, a Utah product. These sold readily at 10c a pound. The Callfornia plums are larger than this and consequently cost more, the price asked being 15c a pound.
